From the Pastor: All Souls' Day: Every year on November 2, we remember and pray for the dead in a special way and continue to do so during the entire month. In order to understand this ancient belief I would like to share the Church tradition giving some theological & biblical basis and the practice recommendation by the Catechism of the Catholic Church.

1. Church Tradition: 1. The Jews, for example, believed that there was a place of temporary bondage from which the souls of the dead would receive their final release. The Jewish catechism Talmud states that prayers for the dead will help to bring greater rewards and blessings to them. Prayer for the souls of the departed is retained by the Orthodox Jews today who recite a prayer known as the Mourner's Kaddish for eleven months after the death of a loved one so that he/she may be purified. 2. First century practice: Jesus and the apostles shared this belief and passed it on to the early Church. "Remember us who have gone before you, in your prayers," is a petition often found inscribed on the walls of the Roman catacombs (Lumen Gentium-50). 3. The liturgies of the Mass in various rites dating from the early centuries of the Church include "Prayers for the Dead." 4. The early Fathers of the Church encouraged this practice. Tertullian (AD 160-240) wrote about the anniversary Masses for the dead, advising widows to pray for their husbands. St. Augustine (AD 354 – 430) remarked that he used to pray for his deceased mother, remembering her request: "When I die, bury me anywhere you like, but remember to pray for me at the altar" (St. Augustine of Hippo, Confessions, Book 9, Chapter 11, Section 27). 5. The Synods of Nicaea, Florence and Trent encouraged the offering of prayers for the dead, citing Scriptural evidences to prove that there is a place or state of purification for those who die with venial sins on their souls.

2. Theological Basis: According to Revelation 21:27: "nothing unclean shall enter Heaven." Holy Scripture (Proverbs 24:16) also teaches that even "the just sin seven times a day." Since it would be contrary to the mercy of God to punish such souls with venial sins in Hell, they are seen as entering a place or state of purification, called Purgatory, which combines God's justice with His mercy. This teaching is also contained in the doctrine of the Communion of Saints.

3. Biblical Basis: 1. II Maccabees, 12:46 is the main Biblical text incorporating the Jewish belief in the necessity of prayer and sacrifice for the dead. The passage (II Maccabees 12:39-46), describes how Judas, the military commander, "took up a collection from all his men, totaling about four pounds of silver and sent it to Jerusalem to provide for a sin offering" (II Mc 12:43). The narrator continues, "If he had not believed that the dead would be raised, it would have been foolish and useless to pray for them." 2. St. Paul seems to have shared this traditional Jewish belief. At the death of his supporter Onesiphorus, he prayed: "May the Lord grant him mercy on that Day" (II Timothy: 1:18). Other pertinent Bible texts: Matthew 12:32, I Corinthians, 3:15, Zechariah 13:19, Sirach 7:33.

4. Church Teaching: The official teaching of the Church on Purgatory is plain and simple. There is a place or state of purification called Purgatory, where souls undergoing purification can be helped by the prayers of the faithful (Council of Trent). Some modern theologians suggest that the fire of Purgatory is an intense, transforming encounter with Jesus Christ and his fire of love. They also speak of Purgatory as an "instant" purification immediately after death, varying in intensity from soul to soul, depending on the state of each individual.

5. The Catechism of the Catholic Church: It recommends prayer for the dead in conjunction with the offering of the Eucharistic Sacrifice and also encourages "almsgiving, indulgences, and works of penance undertaken on behalf of the dead" (CCC #1032). Let us not forget to pray for our dear departed, have Masses offered for them, visit their graves, and make daily sacrifices for them. God can foresee and apply the merits of our prayers, penances and works of charity, done even years after their death, for our departed dear ones, in favor of our deceased dear ones, at the moment of their deaths. (Fr. A. Kadavil)

St. Isaac of Ninevah counsels, "Enter eagerly into the treasure house that lies within you, and so you will see the treasure house of heaven, for the two are one and the same, and there is but one single entry into them both. The ladder that leads to the kingdom is hidden with you, and is found in your own soul. Dive into yourself and in your soul you will discover the rungs by which to ascend." Our souls are made to be eternal. Once we discover our true selves and are captivated by the wonder of who we really are, we will unleash our unwavering desire for a lasting union with our Creator. Heaven is about who we are. "For seeing you, our God, as you are, we shall be like you for all the ages." @LPi

A DESIRE TO SACRIFICE (A Convert to Catholicism is called to the Priesthood)

Fr. Matthew Long clearly remembers the moment he felt called by God to become a priest. "It was during the veneration of the cross, on Good Friday," he recalls. "The pastor, Fr. Peter Magnum, was holding a very large cross for people to venerate. I was kneeling in front of the pew, and I could see his muscles straining with the difficulty of holding that heavy cross for the people. That more than anything else brought home to me the sacrificial nature of the priesthood. At that moment I said to myself, "That's what I want to do."

This was a serious leap for Matthew, who had already surprised friends and family by converting to Catholicism in his last year of law school at LSU. Joining the Church, he explained, was due to a combination of factors. Learning about the Church and coming to believe in the Eucharist were pivotal. "The final factor was the intercession of St. Thomas More, the patron saint of attorneys," he said. A renowned statesman, St. Thomas More defended the indissolubility of marriage, in opposition to the King of England, and was martyred for his stand. "His steadfastness spoke to me," said Fr. Long.

Matthew's parents were shocked when he announced he wanted to become a Catholic priest. "They told me, "This is not the life we expected for you. We wanted you to marry and have children."" Eventually, however, they reached a peace about his decision, albeit in an unusual way: it was his mother's Baptist minister who finally helped her understand Matthew's call to the priesthood and celibacy! "So by the time I was ordained, they were supportive and happy for me."

Fr. Long's first assignment was as a chaplain at a local high school. "I've learned that every priest has certain priorities in his priesthood, depending on his gifts. For me, at this stage, my priority is the youth," he said. "I attend a lot of sports events and I really enjoy it, but I didn't realize how much it would mean to the students.

He hopes his example will inspire young men to consider the priesthood. His best advice? "Trust in God and listen intently." He admits, "I used to get frustrated when people told me this, but it's true: the most important thing is to cultivate a prayer life. You can't understand what you're being called to, in any vocation, unless you're intently listening to the Father." - taken from Learn to Discern, Catholic Vocations Curriculum Guide, Vianney Vocations, 2021

God has created me to do some special service; God has committed some work to me which has not been committed to another. I have a mission. Somehow I am necessary for his purposes... I have a part in this great work; I am a link in a chain, a bond of connection between persons. He has not created me for naught. I shall do good, I shall do His work; I shall be an angel of peace, a preacher of truth... if I do but keep His commandments and serve Him in my calling. - St. John Henry Newman
